NEWS AND COMMENT.

The battleship Illinois, sister of the Alabama, just turned out by Cramps, the Wisconsin, just completed the Union Iron Works will go out on her builders' trial trip February 13, according to the present arrangement. Completion of the Illinois has considerably delayed by the failure to receive armor. In view of the fact that the Wisconsin and Alabama both made high rates of speed the builders' trial and official trial of the Illinois will be watched with interest. The builders will undoubtedly push her to her test on the builders' trial. Officers for the Illinois have not yet been assigned.

Li Hung Chang has suffered a relapse, and, because of the serious effects of this and his great age, it is feared that he will be unable to act as plenipotentiary in arranging a settlement of the troubles in China and that the difficulty and delay in securing a successor may cause the postponement for a time of negotiations.

The senate will devote this week to the army reorganization bill and its passage is predicted, perhaps during the week. The measure will have to go to conference owing to its radical difference from the bill passed by the house. Several amendments are pending. The provision permitting the enlistment of Filipinos will be attacked.

The divisions of the Cuban Constitution convention have rendered a crystallized report embodying a draft of the proposed constitution. It is expected that two months' discussion will follow the submission of the report and that final changes will be made.

It is believed that a young man who committed suicide at a hotel in Hutchinson, Kas., where he had registered as "R. S. Osborn, Lexington, Ky.," is S. S. Osborn, of West Liberty, who recently attended school at Lexington.

Switzerland is to have a national bank, the funds of which are to be guaranteed by the state. The bank will issue notes of the value of 50 and 100 francs, and will be conducted wholly under government auspices.

There is a rumor at Princeton, Ind., that when Mrs. Joe Keith takes the witness stand in defense of her husband, she will assert that she killed the girl, Nora Keifer, through motives of jealousy.

John T. Flynn, a farmer of Dodge Station, Ky., committed suicide at the Phoenix Hotel in Lexington by swallowing a mixture of strychnine, morphine and carbolic acid.

Owing to the fact that the Blaine club, of Cincinnati, can not secure suitable quarters at Washington it has abandoned its proposed trip to the inauguration.

Students of all the leading colleges of the United States are to be invited to take part in the parade at the inauguration of President McKinley.

John O. Sims, secretary of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, died in Philadelphia Sunday, the result of an operation for appendicitis.

Thirty-one cotton mills were chartered in South Carolina during 1900 and the capital of twenty old mills was increased.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Nothing of interest has been done in the circuit court today. The time this week will largely be taken up in setting cases.

England is unhappy. There is a cry for more troops for South Africa, while the war news itself is very disappointing. Then there are reports of the situation in Cape Colony being a very grave one.

A HEART RENDING ACCIDENT OF LAST MIDNIGHT

Empress An Opposes the Terms of the Powers For Peace In China—A Big Victory For Germans In Battle—Joe Blackburn Is Announced as Soon to Marry In Philadelphia.

Washington, Jan. 8.—President McKinley is today suffering with a severe cold. Owing to his condition he has been warned by his physicians to keep very quiet and therefore he called off the cabinet meeting set for today and also the diplomatic reception which occurs tomorrow. There is some anxiety over the president's condition, but no fear of a serious result, as he is quite strong even for his age.

A HORROR.

Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 8.—The city orphan asylum was destroyed by fire at midnight. The institution was quite full of little subjects and so many are missing that it is believed at least forty perished in the flames. The destruction of the asylum was rapid and there were many hurt besides those who perished. Of the injured it is believed at least 12 will die.

There were many heroic escapes and but for the fact the dead would have been double the number given. There is no explanation of the disaster, but it is credited to overheating from furnaces, the weather for some days having been very cold. The fire and its death list has thrown the city into deep gloom.

AN SAYS NO TO POWERS.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Minister Conger cables that the empress of China is opposing in a strenuous way the acceptance of the demands for peace offered by the powers. America now suggests the removal of negotiations from Peking to Washington, which signifies a firm demand.

GERMANS WIN.

Pekin, Jan. 8.—In a fight with 3,000 Chinese near the great wall the Germans killed 200 and wounded 800.

BECKHAM'S IDEA.

Frankfort, Jan. 8.—Gov. Beckham holds that Judge Tinsley was legally elected judge in the Twenty-seventh district.

ED MUSE.

HE IS CHARGED WITH CONFISCATING CANNED GOODS AT THE NEW RICHMOND.

Ed Muse, colored, has been working in the warehouse at the New Richmond for several weeks past. Strange to say canned tomatoes, corn, peas, and other things, have been missed.

Sunday, Mr. Chas. Riddle, the tailor, saw two women coming out of the back of the hotel with baskets of canned goods, and saw Muse not far away. He asked the latter to go to the boat store and buy him a can of tomatoes, but Muse went to the warehouse instead, and brought out a can, selling it for ten cents. Mr. Riddle reported it to Proprietor, Ed Drennan, resulting in Muse's arrest.

The defendant swore in Judge Sanders' court today that he sold no tomatoes to Mr. Riddle and had had none. All the court could get out of him was that he "was grinding coffee." The case was left open in order to get a case of false swearing against Muse.

LIVELY CHASE.

SUSPECTED SANDBAGGERS ESCAPE FROM OFFICER ORR IN THE WOODS.

Officer Tom Orr was notified when the accommodation train arrived from Princeton this morning that a man was sandbagged and robbed in Princeton last night, and the two negroes were supposed to have come to the city on the train. They jumped off at the N. C. and S. L. crossing, near the I. C. depot and threw away two pair of gloves, supposed to have been taken from their victim.

After running down the track for a short distance they made off through the woods and were traced quite a distance by the officer, but finally all trace of them was lost.

NATURALIZED.

DAVE CASSEL, THE ILLINOIS CENTRAL SPECIAL OFFICER, CAN VOTE.

Dave Cassel, the special officer for the Illinois Central freight yards, today was granted naturalization papers in the county court.

He came here from Germany in 1868, and as he was not 21, he did not have to take out preliminary papers. He is now entitled to all the privileges of an American citizen.

SWEEPING STREETS.

Bush Peal, Hulin Gilert, Jim Hale, Ben Clark, Van Clark, Ernest Miller and Ulysses Williams, small colored boys, were arrested today for throwing rocks at the warehouse formerly occupied by Barry and Hubbard, on West Broadway, and breaking out nearly all the windows and skylights. They did it through pure cussedness, and were fined $5 and costs each by Judge Sanders. This afternoon they were on the chaingang sweeping Broadway, chained together.

PACIFIC DESTROYS SHADE TREES.

There is a scale of parasite of some description at work on the shade trees of the city. Its depredations have been most marked in the western part of the city, where many fine specimens of trees have been practically ruined. Trees on which the scale appears may be distinguished by the deep brown and spotted leaves which they bear. Foliage on trees which are attacked, even when not affected directly, show a lack of life and color. It is sear and warped at the edges, as though dried by a hot wind. Great colonies of the parasite form on the bark, as well as the leaves of the trees. They may be seen in large white or gray masses. Wherever a colony form the bark or leaf dies. The spotted brown appearance of the foliage is due to the presence of the scale on the under side of the leaf. The leaf is often seen to be curled and lifeless, due to the attacks of the insect on the stem. Some leaves are destroyed completely, with the exception of the veins, which are not attacked while the tender portion remains.—Springfield (Ill.) News.

SUSPECTS HELD.

MEN IN JAIL BELIEVED TO BE WANTED AT MORGANFIELD.

One of Them Is Charged With Stealing a Cape from a Dummy—Are Being Investigated.

What is believed to be an important arrest was made about midnight last night by Officers Singery and Goureaux. Two white men and a boy, giving the names W. F. Hurd, L. C. Boniface and Chas. Day, were taken into custody as suspects. Hurd is alleged to be the man who stole a cape from a "dummy" in front of Mr. J. J. Dorian's and sold it to Rittorf, on Second street, for 75 cents.

The three men are believed to be badly wanted crooks, and are thought to be the men who broke into the depot and several other places at Morganfield, Ky.

A pair of spectacles found on one answers the description of a pair stolen from a lawyer's house in Morganfield at the time it was burglarized.

The men were all locked up to await Marshal Collins' investigation.

WIFE DESERTED.

AVIL BEASLEY SUES CARL BEASLEY FOR DIVORCE HERE.

Mrs. Avil Beasley today filed suit in the circuit court here against Carl Beasley for divorce and a restoration for her maiden name, Avil Coley. She alleges that they were married here in 1899, and that her husband, in addition to treating her most cruelly, abandoned her among strangers, with no money, in Little Rock, Ark.

HAD A SPECIAL JUDGE.

Ed Rudolph, charged with a breach of the peace, was tried in the police court this morning before Major Harris as special judge, Judge Sanders declining to try the case, as Rudolph objected to being tried by the latter, and was adjudged guilty and fined $1 and costs.

DIED OF PNEUMONIA.

Mr. John Burnett, of Ballance, Graves county, aged 73, died last night from pneumonia, leaving four sons and three daughters. The remains will be laid at rest tomorrow morning in the Clarks' River cemetery.

New Warfare Is Tested.

The expectations of the naval officials were more than equalled in the speed trial of the new battleship Alabama recently. The floating fighting machine covered the prescribed course in such remarkable time that the title, "Queen of the Navy," has been conferred upon her. An average speed of 17 knots per hour was made for a period of four hours. Although this speed is not as remarkable as that made by the Iowa, still the performance of the Alabama is considered phenomenal. During the trial the craft was not overworked, and after finishing the course was pronounced in good condition. Five sister ships, the Massachusetts, Indiana, Kentucky, Texas, and Keokuk, were used as stake boats in the trial. A triangular course was arranged and the spectacle was witnessed by many people. The vessel is the product of American shipbuilders. It was constructed by the Cramps at Philadelphia and guaranteed to do at least 16 knots per hour. The trial showed that she could do 17 without trouble, and it is thought that the time on the trial trip may yet be surpassed.

THE RAILROAD NEWS

John Brown, an Illinois Central section hand, fell from a trestle Sunday near Newbern, Tenn., and was fatally hurt. He is in Memphis at the city hospital.

Another freight wreck, the result of a collision, has occurred on the Valley route of the Illinois Central. The stock damage was considerable, but no one was hurt.

Mrs. M. B. Tyndall and Mrs. John T. Blythe, of Fulton, whose husbands, while in a buggy were struck by a train and killed a few months ago, have filed suit at Fulton against the Illinois Central for $25,000 damages each.

Henry Thomas, colored, the Illinois Central brakeman shot in some kind of a fray at Ripley, Tenn., is gradually sinking at the railroad hospital here, and it is not thought will last through the day. He does not appear to know who shot him.

Special Agent Wm. J. Ladley, of Louisville, was in the city today.

Second Vice President J. T. Harahan and party, of Chicago, are expected in the city some time tonight or tomorrow. As yet the time has not been announced.

HENRY VENTRESS SAID HE WANTED A REQUISITION.

He Is Wanted On Three Charges in Martin, Tenn.—Was Before Judge Sanders This Morning.

Henry Ventress, alias Williams, the negro wanted at Martin, Tenn., on several felony charges, was brought out before Judge Sanders in the police court this morning and declined to return to Tennessee without a requisition.

Marshall W. M. McRee, of Martin, was here with three warrants. One charges Ventress with breaking into J. E. Dent's hardware store, another with breaking into Shelton Brown jewelry store, and another with carrying a dress coat belonging to Attorney Bowen.

The first two offenses were committed the latter part of November, but no evidence was obtained against Ventress until a few days ago, when stolen goods were found here, where he had sold them.

He was tried at Martin last Friday night. He was tried for spring for burglary, but came off with a free release. He has been working about the depot for some time past, and seems to be a pretty shrewd darkey, about 35 years old.

He was remanded to jail by Judge Sanders for 60 days to await a requisition.

TUESDAY, JAN. 8, 1901.

Some papers never give up anything except advice.

There are a number of legislatures in session and just as many states in trouble. Our own state, thanks to some good fortune, is not among the sufferers.

When The Sun needs any advice as to its policy, it will call on someone who knows more about the newspaper business than the embryonic editor of its Third street contemporary.

Since Gov. Beckham declared there would be no extra session of the legislature he has almost passed even from the memory of the "gang." They don't consider the "gov" such a "cinch" after all.

The frequent reports of surrenders among the Filipinos would indicate all the insurgents are giving up. But such is not the case. The woods are still filled with the aborigines who are yet to be conquered.

The Sun desires to call the attention of Mayor Lang to the fact that in fixing the death rate of a city, nothing is eliminated except still-born infants. Any doctor or any one else familiar with the methods of establishing the rate, will tell him the same.

Those who profess to have the interests of the city so much at heart, by the present agitation of the death rate question, are only calling attention to a matter that would probably otherwise have passed unnoticed, thereby causing just what they claim they want to prevent.

If Quay is chosen senator from Pennsylvania he will owe his election to disaffected Democrats just as he would have owed his defeat to disaffected Republicans. The senatorship had been won by Quay and justice will only prevail when he defeats the soreheads.

The Sun desires to state that Mayor Lang's figures relative to Paducah's death rate are entirely wrong, and if he doesn't know it he can find it out by applying to the Paducah Medical and Surgical society, which now has a detailed report of what the mayor has been trying to get up for several days, but hasn't done.

The Democrats are making a vicious grab after the offices to be filled next November, but many of them won't reach the plums. By the by, do these office hunters think all they have to do to win is to receive the primary endorsement? If it is they have another thing coming to them, as they will understand before the ballots are all in. Not all the voters in the county are Democrats.

What Paducah most needs is men who will give up their struggle for the almighty dollar long enough to take a little interest in the health of the city in which they live, and to which they want others to come and live. When the average man assumes that wise, beneficent, I-am-more-godly-than-thou air and begins talking about "hurting the town," you may just interpret his words to mean that he's afraid something's going to hurt his pocket book. Men who really are interested in their town are those who seek to improve its moral or sanitary condition; those who take cognizance of its faults and try to remedy, instead of overlook them. Men who are really interested in Paducah are those who wonder who is responsible for the fact that although we have had sewerage for two years only a shamefully small number of houses are connected with it, and these only through the common sense and enterprise of the owners. Men who truly have the interest of the city at heart, are those who are in favor of so ameliorating the "conditions that surround them that an extension of the cemetery will not become necessary every year or two, and people will not be confronted with a doctor's sign every time they turn around. These are the kind of men who have the interests of a city at heart—not those who overlook the most essential thing in a city's progress—its health, in an unduly desire to suppress facts and perhaps get a few more dollars, for that's virtually what it amounts to. The kind of growth to be attained under the theory of Mayor Lang and the News will be principally in the vicinity of Oak Grove.

Cardinal Gibbons delivered a sermon in Baltimore Sunday in which he took strong ground against imperialism and large stamping armies.

NEW MONEY INCREASES.
The report of the director of the mint, showing an increase of more than 100 per cent in the available money of the world within a generation, the most of the increase being in metallic money and much the larger proportion in gold, illustrates the old and well known truth, that the less legislative tinkering with the money problem the better.

Of the $4,600,000,000 of monetary currency in existence in 1878 more than one-half was in paper, only partially secured by coin reserves. To this sum of unsecured paper currency the United States contributed in no inconsiderable degree. The paper promises of the rebellion period had been neither recalled nor made good. The money supply of 1900 had increased to $11,600,000,000, an increase of 7,000,000,000 in twenty-seven years. Only about one-fourth of this was in unsecured paper. Of the increase $3,600,000,000 is in gold, $2,750,000,000 in silver, and only $550,000,000 in paper. While the advocates of unlimited fiat paper issues have written and declaimed, men have mined gold and silver, and the needs of exchange have been supplied by abundant money possessing an intrinsic value.

What is most encouraging of all is that the production of gold, increases yearly, and was never so great as in 1900. Our own gold production reached high water mark—nearly $80,000,000—the American section of Alaska producing more gold last year than was paid to Russia for the entire territory. These figures indicate that the monetary problem is itself most certainly and best when least meddled with by legislation and monetary doctrinaires.

OVERFLOWING WITH GOLD.

THE PRESENT TREASURY SUPPLY BREAKS ALL RECORDS.

Washington, Jan. 8.—"The gross gold in the treasury," said Ellis H. Roberts, United States treasurer, "is $480,709,005, breaking all records. At the end of March, 1899, the treasury held $328,293,901, which was the largest sum accumulated during any administration in recent years. Our immense gold holdings are due, of course, to the great prosperity of the country, to the increased production of gold in all directions and in a large part to the fact that the United States is now the creditor nation of the world."

Mr. Roberts thought that for the present at least there would continue to be an increase in the treasury holdings of gold, but it might be reduced somewhat should the reduction of the war revenue taxes be so heavy as to run the expenditures close to the receipts.

CHICKEN THIEVES.

Mr. Willis Morgan and his son-in-law, Mr. Henry Sander, the cigarmaker, complained at police headquarters yesterday afternoon that they had eighteen chickens stolen the night before from Mr. Sander's home, 619 South Tenth street.

A great many people have complained of having chickens stolen lately, and yesterday afternoon search warrants were issued with a hope of catching the thief.

STURGEON NEARLY EXTINGUISHED.

Rapid Decrease of Catch in the Past Few Years.
It may surprise some persons to learn that a full grown female sturgeon is as valuable a creature as the fur seal. Yet this is a fact. It may also interest and surprise many to be told that more than $1,000,000 are invested in the sturgeon catching industry in the Delaware river alone, and that more than seven-eighths of the caviar sold in this country as Russian caviar is made a few miles below this city from eggs of the sturgeon caught in this vicinity. Yet both these things are true also. The slaughter of the fur seals in Behring sea and their threatened early extinction by Canadian poachers produced at one time widespread excitement throughout the country, and for awhile caused decidedly strained relations between the governments of the United States and England. The sturgeon is as seriously near extinction as the fur seal. At the rate this valuable fish is disappearing and unless something is promptly done to prevent it in five years there will be none to catch. To show how rapidly the sturgeon are passing away it is only necessary to refer to the report of the Pennsylvania fish commission. According to the document, between the years 1880 and 1889 it was not uncommon for 1,000 sturgeon to be seen on the dock at Bayside as the result of one day's catch. In the latter named year the fish began to decrease in number rapidly. The average catch to a net that season was 60; in 1891 about 55; in 1892 it was 43; in 1893 it had fallen to 32; in 1894 down to 26; in 1895 the average to a net rose to 32, but in 1896 it fell to 27; in 1897 the average was 22; in 1898 it fell to 13, and in 1899 it sank to 8. In 1898 the total catch of sturgeon in the Delaware bay and river was 5,000. Last season it was 2,510. It cannot take long at this ratio to bring extermination.

A petition from property owners to compel the Street Car company to run its cars farther out Jackson street than Tenth was referred to the mayor and city attorney.

Street Inspector Utterback's annual report showed that the past year he replaced 195 of the 268 wooden culverts in various portions of the city, with storm water sewers, expending over $5,000 in lumber for constructing other bridges, used 2,500 feet of sewer pipe, etc. It was received and filed, as was City Engineer Wilcox's report showing 133 building permits issued, calling for an expenditure of $212,000.

Mayor Lang made a report relative to his visit to the League of American Municipalities at Charleston, S. C., last month, stating that the consensus of opinion on the saloon question seemed to be that they were best regulated by high license. He submitted the following list of cities, showing number of saloons and license charged:

Memphis, 400 saloons, license $270 per annum; Evansville, 300 saloons, license $75 per annum; Nashville, 400 saloons, license $344; Owensboro, 30, saloons, license $400, with five wholesale whiskey houses license at $750 per annum each; Cairo, 45 saloons, license $500, and Bowling Green, 13 saloons, license $400.

Mayor Lang presented the following relative to Paducah's death rate, which was received and filed:

Paducah, Ky., Jan. 7, 1900.
To the Members of the Common Council.

Gentlemen:—Whereas; damaging reports to the city have been widely circulated, not only recently but for some years past, concerning an inauspicious death rate of abnormal proportions, I have felt it my first and most important duty to look into the matter closely and herewith submit to you such facts as I have been able to accurately compile.

As stated in a document published by me, mortality records serve two purposes. First, that of a gross number of deaths in a given territory, as compared with a record of the births for the uses of the national government with regard to census records. The second and more important purpose is to show the local sanitary conditions or climatic causes of death in a locality. In the latter no death should be enrolled, except those from diseases superinduced by bad sanitation or unhealthfulness of climate. Deaths from unnatural causes do not belong to this record as these would destroy its usefulness and make a record misleading to the public. Realizing the great importance of this matter I have not only carefully compiled a record of the city's mortality for the past year, but have sent a competent man to several cities and have the list of these which is submitted in comparison. In some of these the mortality list is very heavy in others normal, but not a single one of those here named have been advertised to the world as dangerous to the existence of its inhabitants, or that they were good places to stay away from, but to the contrary our agent found it difficult to obtain the records desired in some of them. The undertakers in Paducah have handled, or assisted, or supplied during the year of 1900, 604 deaths. These include all of the county, deaths from all causes those passing through the city from point to point, and those shipped to Paducah for burial from other counties and states. The proper government report for gross number of deaths would eliminate all not absolutely dying inside of the corporate limits of the city, hence the record kept by your health officer would not be acceptable to the government.

The government would have the 131 shipped in from the county and the 25 from outside points, as shown by the undertaker's books, stricken from the list for Paducah, which would leave the gross number to be 448, (this being the number in the city from all causes.

Taking this number of gross deaths and figuring it against our population gives the mortality per cent as 23.4 or 23 1/2 to the 1,000 population. But the sanitary record is not to be kept thus, such a method is confusing and destroys absolutely the usefulness thereof. Deaths from diseases superinduced by local influences, only, are to be kept in this record, and to be exactly correct, persons who die from extreme old age should be eliminated. Certainly accidental deaths, suicides, deaths from child birth, premature births, drownings, etc., etc., have no bearing or enlightenment as to sanitary conditions or local causes of diseases which result fatally.

The record shows that of the 604 named there were 137 from the county, 128 white, and three colored. Shipped in from other points, 24 white and one colored. Deaths by accident, white, 9; colored, 1. Drowned, white 3; colored, 1. Premature births, white 25; colored, 33; total 58. Child birth, white 3; colored, 2; total 4. Making the total of deaths from local causes 394, of which 14 were white and 180 colored. This estimated as against the population of the city shows a per cent of 1.97 or a fraction less than 2 to the 1,000. The per cent of mortality of the whites is very low, in fact, much below normal, but the record of the colored is very heavy, and this is what swells the total. The average of the white calculating on a basis of 14,000 population is 1.53 or 1 1/2 to the 1,000, while that of the colored based on 6,000, is 33 per cent or exactly 30 to the 1,000. The heavy mortality among the colored people is largely made up of young children which do not have the proper care in infancy and the manner of living in unsanitary clusters of the adult population, the drinking of water from wells and the localities in which they reside.

The following cities have been visited and the records here given are the result.

EVANSVILLE, IND.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO.

Athletic sports and open-air amusements generally may be said to have been even more popular in those days than they are now. Thomas Jefferson boxed and fenced, and George Washington, who all but saw the nineteenth century open, could jump further and throw a stone a greater distance than any other man in Virginia. Fox hunting, gunning, and all such field sports were more commonly indulged in then than today. Every gentleman rode horseback, as a matter of course. His spurs, like those of the old time knight, were the badge of his rank, and he did not drive in a carriage until he was too old to mount a horse.

The breeding of the modern American race horse began 100 years ago. The south in those days was the great horseracing section, and every southern gentleman who could afford the luxury owned thoroughbreds. James Madison owned race horses and ran them, and so likewise did Thomas Jefferson and Andrew Jackson. The races were long distance ones—four miles usually. As for the jockeys—the Tod Slans of 1800 and thereafter—they drew no princely salaries, as they do nowadays, inasmuch as most of them were negro boys belonging to the owners of the horses.

Pugilism has undergone a most satisfactory development during the nineteenth century. In 1800 prize fighting in England was done in brutal manner, with bare knuckles and to the finish always. The combatants were frequently hurt quite severely, and much gore was shed. On this side of the water we had no prize fights in those days, but on festive occasions, especially at fairs, there were rough and tumble encounters for money, in which the gouging of eyes and the mauling of ears were admissible and even customary. All this kind of thing, happily, is of the past, and nowadays, though there are plenty of prize fights, every precaution is taken, including the use of gloves and the presence of a referee, to avoid bruises. The persons engaged are rarely injured at all, and in short, the sport has become gentle and refined.

A first class hotel in 1800 had about twenty rooms, and charged $1 a day.

Ex-President Harrison, in a little speech to the members of the Columbia club at Indianapolis on New Year's eve, suggested that decapitation would solve the problem of disposing of the ex-presidents and thus prevent them from criticizing their successors. The only alternative he knew was the same freedom to speak their sentiments accorded to other people. As it was too late to give him the axe he was expressing his opinion upon constitutional questions without fear or favor.

Some idea of the magnitude and possibilities of the sugar industry in Cuba can be had when it is known that near the town of Purgas a plantation containing 13,000 acres is in operation. It employs 1,500 persons and on it there are two forts, thirty miles of railroad belonging to the place, three steam railroad locomotives, many homes for the white people and the natives, a big sugar factory, and a river which floats lighters loaded with sugar from the plantation docks to the ships on the coast.

In a village in New York a scheme for discouraging intemperance has been proposed wherein all drinkers of intoxicants shall be required to take out a license costing not less than $5 a year, the names of the license holders being published in the papers once every six months.

Riches cost John N. Baptie both his feet; still he is satisfied. He returned from the Klondike to his old home, at Bayonne, N. J., a wealthy man. He brings back $10,000 in gold dust and deeds to two paying claims in Montana creek, but he is hopelessly crippled.

The telephone company in Chicago for lodging and board. The Waldorf-Astoria of those days had carpets in some of its apartments, but they were an exceptional luxury. Meals were served at fixed hours, at the summons of a gong bell, and patrons were expected to respond promptly. There were no bills of fare, but decanters were placed on the table, from which anybody might "help himself freely. In the southern states the landlord frequently called out the names of dishes in a loud voice, and each patron spoke up for what he wanted. Board in New York city cost from $3 to $7 per week, and at the latter price one boarding house advertised to furnish from seven to nine dishes a day, with four sorts of liquor.

In 1800 this country boasted of three fine new theaters—the Park, in New York; the Chestnut street, in Philadelphia, and the [Federal street, in Boston. There were about ten good sized play houses all together, and stock companies were usually employed, though the starring system had already been inaugurated. Scenery was primitive, and the modern mechanical contrivances of stage art were as yet unthought of. The Federal street theater provided a separate entrance and separate boxes for females of doubtless reputation—an example which was imitated in Philadelphia.

The theater of New York in those days had a first class stock company, the salaries of the actors and actresses aggregating $480 a week. Mrs. Oldmixon, a famous performer, received the highest salary, $57 a week; Mrs. Hogg got $14, Mr. Hogg $13 and Miss Hogg $4. Ten dollars a week was paid to a "wretched prompter of the name of Hughes," and an intelligent "box office keeper" drew $4. Holcroft, who had been a stable boy, was the most successful dramatist of the time on this side of the water, and his plays, "The Road to Ruin" and "The Deserted Daughter," drew crowded houses. In July, 1800, a summer theater was opened in New York, "far out of town," at the northwest corner of Broadway and Leonard street, with a "much admired farce, in three acts," entitled "A Miss in Her Teens." Chicago is boasting of the launch of a steamer, one of a fleet of four, which are to take their cargoes of grain direct from Chicago elevators to be delivered at any desired European port without reshipment or breaking bulk. The one already launched and the three which are to follow it will draw fifteen feet of water and have a carrying capacity of 2,000 tons each. They are destined to reach the ocean with their cargoes through the Canadian canals.

The idea that an owl cannot see in daytime has been most singularly and effectively dispelled. One of these birds was met by the British steamer Etelreda 400 miles at sea. Immediately the owl was sighted it turned towards the ship, and as quickly as possible lit upon the deck, thoroughly exhausted.

CANADIAN BUFFALOES.

Like Their Kin of the States They Seem Destined to Extinction.

The wood bison, as the buffalo of British North America is known, appears to be doomed to extinction. J. A. Allen of the American Museum of Natural History in his notes on the wood bison summarizes the number of these buffalo estimated to exist during the last ten years as follows: Estimate in 1889 of Professor Hornaday, now director of the New York Zoological society, 550; Russell, 1894, a few hundred; Jarvis, 1897, about 300; Moberly, 1897, 200 to 300, and Stone, 1899, 50.

The home of the wood bison has been in the neighborhood of the Great Slave lake in the northwest territory. Within the last six years the Indians have hunted the wood bison in 1894, wrote of them in 1898, saying: "The herd at present consists of a few hundred only. They are so wary that only one effective shot can be fired, when they betake themselves to instant flight, and, as with the moose, pursuit is altogether futile as they cannot be hunted in summer, as they are in the country which they inhabit is mosquito infested and a wooded swamp at this season. They can only be killed by stalking in midwinter, when their pelage is at its best. The Indians along the Peace and Slave rivers make occasional trips into the buffalo country with dog teams to establish lines of marten traps. When they discover a band of buffaloes, they, of course, kill as many as they can, but they have not made systematic efforts to hunt them for their robes, as they have the musk ox. Fortunately the officers of the company have exerted their influence toward the preservation of the bison, not trading for the robes until the recent advent of rival traders. During the winter of 1892-93 forty buffaloes were killed, the largest number that had been secured for several years. I saw most of these robes, which were very dark, the hair thick and curled, making a robe superior to that of either musk ox or plains buffalo. They were so large that the Indians had to cut many of them in half for convenience in hauling on the sleds. From $10 to $50 is paid for the robes."

A fire beneath suffocated eight guests of the Harvard Hotel in Minneapolis Sunday morning. Nineteen other guests had narrow escapes.

The amount of premiums is an increase over that of the two former years, the amount from July, 1898, to June, 1899, being $71,600, with $78,000 for the succeeding year. Secretary Rose thinks the premiums will run to about $90,000 this year.

Pearl in Southwest Missouri.

Pearls are being found in great quantities in the Black and St. Francis rivers in southwest Missouri. A Poplar bluff fisherman found the first gem in an ordinary mussel which he picked up on a shoal in Black river. He sold the gem to a St. Louis jeweler for $125 and since then hundreds of people have flocked to the rivers to engage in pearl fishing. Many valuable gems have been found. Nearly all are white, with tinting of different hues, and range in size from a grain of wheat to an ordinary pea.
